Ten conditions of Bai'at (pledge) as laid down by the Founder

One who would like to be initiated into the Movement must pledge as follows :

Firstly, that until he is lain in his grave, he will shun all forms and shades of shirk (Polytheism).

Secondly, that he will guard against falsehood, fornication, evil-sight and every form of sin, evil, cruelty, dishonesty, disorder and rebellion, and that in moments of passion he will on no account give in, however boisterous that passion may be.

Thirdly, that without fail he will say his prayers five times a day as enjoined by God and His Apostle and that, to the best of his power, he will say his midnight prayer, will invoke Divine blessings on the Holy Prophet, will ask forgiveness for his sins and will with a truly loving heart, recall God's favours and glorify Him.

Fourthly, that he will do nothing in any way to injure his fellow human beings in general and the Musalmans in particular neither with the tongue, nor with the hand, nor in any other way.

Fifthly, that he will show fidelity to God under all circumstances—alike in prosperity and adversity, in pleasure and adversity, in pleasure and pain, in time of bliss and afflictions, that he will resign himself to God under all conditions and will cheerfully bear all hardships and humiliations in His way; that in the hour of calamity he will not turn his back but will step yet onward.

Sixthly, that he will eschew observance of evil customs or following the prompting of his lower nature ; that he will thoroughly submit to the yoke of the Holy Qur'an ; and that in every walk of life, he will hold the Word of God and that of His Apostle as his guiding principle.

Seventhly, that he will totally abstain from haughtiness and will live in humility, meekness and mildness.

Eighthly, that he will hold the honour of religion and sympathy for Islam dearer than everything else, dearer than his life, wealth, his honour, his children, his kith and kin.

Ninthly, that he will make it a rule of his life to show sympathy towards all human beings out of love for God and that, to the best of his power, he will use all the God-given faculties and blessings for the benefit of humanity.

Tenthly, that binding himself with me (Hazrat Mirza Ghulam Ahmad) in a fraternal bond in the way of Allah, he will obey me in everything good, and will live up to this pledge till his death in this fraternal bond and will show such sincerity as is not met with in cases of blood relation or other worldly connections.

WHAT OTHER SAY ABOUT

Ahmadiyyah Anjuman Ishaat-i-Islam, Lahore (W. Pakistan)

The Ahmadiyya Anjuman Ishaat-i-Islam (headquarters in Lahore). This group accepts Ghulam Ahmad as Mujaddid not as prophet, and affirms that he never claimed to be a prophet. It has always been incomparably small than (i) ; but comparably zealous in its activities. It has differed, for instance, in trying more to win converts to Islam than to itself. It has been active in a systematic and effective fashion chiefly in three overlapping fields : publishing, organized foreign missionary work, and leadership in intellectual modernism (liberalism) in Islam, especially of English reading Islam. It has produced and circulated throughout the world chiefly in English and Urdu, but also in a half-dozen and more other European and well over a dozen Asian languages) translations of the Kuran, life of Muhammad, impressive expositions of Islam, many monographs and essays, and innumerable pamphlets. Its foreign mission stations, in London, Berlin, Indonesia, have been influential ; especially the first (the Woking Mission, an independent entity from 1930, but from 1947 again semi-officially related to the Lahore movement) The leader of the movement from its inception until his death in 1951, prolific author of much of its literature and chief creator of its distinctive intellectual contributions was Maulana Muhammad 'A'li. Also to be mentioned is the equally prolific but shorter-lived Imam of the Woking Mosque Khwaja Kamal al-Din (1870-1937).
